Digital sales reporting requirements from His Majesty's Revenue and Customs (HMRC) require operators of digital platforms, like online marketplaces such as eBay, to report transaction data of its users to tax authorities under certain circumstances.

You're receiving a report because you reside in the UK and meet the criteria required by HMRC:

- Your sales on eBay equal or exceed £1,740 after deducting fees, commissions, or taxes, or
- You completed 30 or more selling transactions in a calendar year

Your documents include a report and a detailed file for you to review. eBay reports the following information to the tax authorities:

- Total number of transactions
- Total fees
- Total taxes
- Consideration

Follow the steps in this guide to understand what's being reported and how it's calculated.

Know your report

Total number of transactions

Your total number of transactions includes all completed sales transactions minus cancelled transactions.

Total transaction amount

The total transaction amount equals the full amount you receive for your sales transactions prior to any adjustments, and includes buyer paid postage costs and tax that you collect for the sale.

Total fees

Your total fees is the sum of all selling fees minus any fee credits. eBay fees include insertion fees, optional listing upgrade fees, final value fees, ad fees, international fees and Shop subscription fees.

Total taxes

Your total taxes is the sum of all tax collected by eBay in addition to any tax on fees, postage labels and returns labels paid by you.

Gross refunds

Gross refunds includes refunds issued by you or eBay due to cancellations, return requests, eBay Money Back Guarantee cases or payment disputes. This excludes any fee and tax credits.

Net adjustments

Adjustments are charges or credits initiated by eBay – for example, if eBay issues a credit to the seller.

Consideration

Your consideration is the sum of total transaction amount minus the following:

- Total fees
- Total taxes
- Gross refunds
- Net adjustments

About corrections

It's important that the information you provide is up to date. If there are changes to your tax or personal information after the reporting year, eBay will make the necessary corrections. eBay will then generate a new report and share it with HMRC.

Post-sale activity

Post-sale activity describes the events that can occur after a sale is complete. These events can include refunds due to cancellations, return requests, eBay Money Back Guarantee cases or payment disputes.
